VOL. 32. NO. 5

CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1926.

California Ranch News

The season's first consignment of sweet potatoes, two boxes, was shipped from Merced by J. C. Coconour, local grower and packer.

The California Cattleman's Association reports that there are 53,370 cattle in San Luis Obispo county. Of this total, 25,200 are dairy cattle.

Oranges made California famous, and now they have come into their own at last. They now rank first in value among the crops grown in the commonwealth.

At the M. R. Fitzsimmons ranch on Spring Hill near Sebastopol, a pear tree is in full blossom and is a big attraction. The tree blossomed early in the spring and is again blooming.

Plans for entirely new standards for fresh grapes in California were outlined at a meeting at Fresno of representatives of the fresh grape industry. The meeting was one of a series being held throughout the state by the state department of agriculture.

Tin Pan Alley will have to revise ideas of the "Land of Cotton," if the climate hereabouts continues to do its stuff. At Escalon the chamber of commerce figures show 2,500 acres have been planted in that region to cotton and the crop this year is thirty days ahead of last year.

Peach growers in El Camino, Tehama county, have been getting from $28 to $31 the ton for green fruit, delivered to the buyers. For dried fruit there has been as much as 13½ cents paid, although most of it has been sold at 11½ cents to 12½ cents a pound. The crops were mostly of Hales, Elbertas and Muirs.

Watermelons have been shipped steadily from the ranch of Carl Melcher near McFarland for some time and early in July grapes began to move from the Melcher vineyards. The first shipment was of Dismars, a white Persian variety, which went by express. The Ribbers are coloring and will be ready for shipment soon.

With the hauling of the first load of Tuscan cling peaches from the ranch of Dr. Hugh Beattie, Elk Grove, Sacramento county, the harvest of the peach crop of this locality got under way and from present indications the quality and quantity of the fruit from this section will be greater this year.

The cotton crop for Tulare county is coming along well, according to Frank R. Brann, county horticultural commissioner, who has completed a survey of the fields. There is, perhaps, not quite as much cotton as last year, but more than in 1924. Cotton is being developed this season as a part of a general diversification scheme.

Shipments of straight cantaloupes from the Imperial valley are about over, according to a report issued by the California Crop Reporting Service. The movement of honeydews and casabas will probably continue for a short time. July 1st showed a total of 13,045 cars for the season to date. The end of the season will probably see a total of about 14,000 cars.

Red spider has shunned the Tulare county orchards this season for some mysterious though happy reason. With but a few exceptions the horticultural commissioner reports all orchards practically free from the pest and the season now so well advanced that no particular damage would occur if the spider did drop in unexpectedly from some quarter. Last year the red spider did a great deal of damage in the country.

More than 1500 acres in Santa Barbara county will be planted to carrots during the coming fall season, according to vegetable shippers, who report that the demand for this vegetable throughout the country has been growing in the last few years. Soil and climatic conditions throughout the Santa Maria valley are declared to be particularly favorable for the growing of a good quality of carrot and many land-owners are signing planting contracts to grow the crop.

Selection of better seed and production of cotton crops with a limited amount of water are among the projects being worked out at the Shafter Experiment Farm in Kern county, says Farm Advisor C. M. Conner of Tulare county after a return visit from the farm.

Luther Hylton is marketing a crop of cantaloupes from eight acres near McFarland. They are of excellent quality and are bringing good prices. He is said to be the first cants marketed from this district.

Golden State News of Interest to All

Butte County's total assessed valuation for the fiscal year 1926-27 is $36,520,585.

The 700,000 young trout at the Ukiah Fish hatchery at Ukiah, will soon be planted in the streams in the northern part of the state.

Building permits at Watsonville for the month of June amounted to $34,650, according to a report filed with the city board of aldermen.

A small army of grasshoppers has entered Gerber and is attacking gardens at many of the homes. Flower gardens have been particularly attacked.

Workmen have been engaged at Delano for several days improving the office of the telephone company and making improvements in the mechanism and service.

The cotton farmers of Wasco, McFarland and Shafter have formed a growers' marketing corporation and will market their cotton through a co-operative plan.

Plans are being prepared by architects for a one-story concrete class C memorial building for Butte County. It will be erected at Chico and will cost about $50,000.

Construction has been started on a class A hotel to be erected on the site of the old Sentinel Hotel at Kenneyville, Yosemite Valley, for the Yosemite Park and Curry Company.

The Los Molinos Fruit Festival will be held on August 6 and 7, instead of a week later as originally planned. The early ripening of the fruit has necessitated the change in date.

Plans have been completed for a one-story frame and stucco primary school building. It will be at Gilroy, Santa Clara County. The improvement will cost about $35,000.

Plans for the largest Tehama County Fair at Red Bluff yet held have been tentatively approved by the committee in charge. The fair will be held September 16 to 18 inclusive.

Building permits totaling $3,694 and involving $261,043.391 in building costs were issued during the first half of 1926 in ninety-five major cities comprised in the Pacific Coast section.

Showing a gain of $167,854 in valuation of the entire county and an increase of $92,226 in the city of Vallejo, last year, the tax roll of Solano County for 1926 was filed by Assessor E. E. Long.

A survey of the feasibility of constructing a $15,000,000 dam near Isabella on the Kern River as a unit of the big Kern River water storage district will be completed by engineers before long, it is announced.

When the annual membership campaign is completed it is believed that the Tulare County Farm Bureau will show a roster of 1800 names. This campaign was opened shortly after the first of the year, but was not stressed in some farm bureau centers. Just now the various centers are bent on finishing the task.

Ben Blow, field secretary of the National Highway Association, and vice president of the Victory Highway organization, conferred with the directors of the Kern County Farm Bureau at Bakersfield as to highway plans. He said he intended to give a series of addresses before farm center organizations in this county, and talk upon his hobby, Highways.

Although registration day at the University of California is August 13, the women of the senior and junior classes are making plans to welcome new freshman girls. Letters have been sent to all freshmen from the "big sisters" and when they arrive in Berkeley they will find one of the older girls ready to help them through the mazes of registration.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has a crew at work installing a new power line into the Live Oak section from the eastward, crossing the Feather River east of town at the site of the proposed new bridge to connect District No. Ten with Live Oak. Added power has become necessary at Live Oak because of the rapid development.

Suffering from a broken left arm and a deep head gash, Mrs. John Giard of Sonoma, is in the Sonoma hospital undergoing treatment as the result of a mysterious explosion of her stove. The stove, which had not been used for some time, exploded shortly after she ignited a fire in it. It is believed that a rodent had dragged a stick of powder beneath the oven pan.

If present plans are carried out, the San Felipe Valley to the northeast of Julian will be irrigated. Land owners there have applied for a permit to divert 33,000 acre-feet from San Felipe creek for storage near Banner where a dam to cost around $300,000 is proposed. The impounded water will come from the Volcan Mountains where there is an annual rainfall running as high as forty inches.

Growers Get Over 7 Million For 1925 Prune Production

The California Prune and Apricot Growers Association announced last week that checks totaling, $753,051.62, covering the final payments on growers' 1925 prune deliveries, will be mailed today. In accord with the management's intention, expressed last fall, the 1925 fruit deliveries have been disposed of, excepting a portion reserved for carton sales, and the growers paid during the season in which the crops were produced.

Net Value
The net sale's value of the 1925 prunes handled by the association amounts to $8,863,920.14, of which amount $7,546,345.15 is being realized by the growers, it was announced.

In addition to the above regular payments, a special premium is being paid on sizes 20 to 34, inclusive, as noted below:

Commenting on this final settlement, President C. D. Cavalaro of the association says:

Scenes of the Golden West when it was young were being reproduced with startling reality in hotels and saloons in Jackson recently, when Colonel Sam I. Johnson's flying squad of eighteen federal prohibition officers swooped down on the mining center and arrested thirteen men and two women, seized a large quantity of brandy, wine and gin and collected $4,000 in fines before the city was left in darkness and quiet.

Commenting on the rural schools of California Dr. Raymond Asa Kent, noted Illinois educator, and member of the University of California Summer session faculty says: "They have evidently been developed on the theory that people in rural sections have as much right to a good education as those in cities. The financial system under which your rural schools operate is noteworthy; the tax burden is distributed between the community and the state. The development of the union high school system has made possible a very high type of secondary education in rural communities."

W. C. Purdy, federal officer, is spending about ten days in Chico to follow up research work undertaken in the rice fields six years ago under the auspices of the United States Public Health Service, to determine facts regarding the growth of malarial and other species of mosquito. Purdy discovered that in one rice field near Nelson mosquitoes did not breed and that in that particular field a certain kind of algae or water scum grew. This algae was found in none of the other fields and the kinds of algae found growing in the other fields were not found in the mosquito-free field.

An interesting part of the July 4th celebration of Johnsville, Plumas county, was a flag flung to the breeze by George S. Redstreak, postmaster, that first was unfurled in Philadelphia July 4th, 1876, during the Centennial Fair and celebration. The flag, since constantly in the possession of Mr. Redstreak, has thirty-seven stars upon the field and is in excellent condition. It is one of Redstreak's treasured keepsakes and is unfurled only upon the birth date of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

The early history of Ukiah came to light recently when the corner stones of two Methodist churches were opened. Old relics, newspapers and photographs of forty-four years ago were brought to light all in a good state of preservation. The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, erected a building in 1882 and the Methodist Episcopal Church a building in 1885. These congregations have united in the past year. The buildings are being razed and one new $50,000 building will be erected for the united congregation.

"The mailing of the final members liquidates all current obligation to our members on account of the 1925 crops. The association is operating on a current basis and is in splendid condition both financially and otherwise."

Mr. Cavalaro goes on to say: "This final prune payment is the earliest in the history of the association and is ample proof of the soundness of the sales and operating policies adopted by the present management. These final payment checks will be doubly welcome to the membership, on account of their coming just prior to this year's harvest season."

Debt Season
In addition to the cash payments being made to prune growers at this time, their accounts are also being credited with an additional equity in common stock of the Growers' Packing and Warehouse association, amounting to 1.4 per cent of the net value of the deliveries made by each grower. By the end of the present contract period, the association will have retired all of its outside indebtedness, and the property will be owned wholly by the membership, through equity in common stock and advance fund investment credits.

Retirements
Following the final prune settlement, the association is preparing checks covering the annual interest and the fourth annual retirement of the one-seventh of the Class A revolving fund. This payment, which will be made within the next few weeks, amount to $178,906.91, of which $139,771.05 is retirement of principal and $39,135.86 is interest. This retirement, together with previous retirements, refunds to the growers over one-half of the investment made by them in the "old" association—the California Prune and Apricot Growers, Inc. Further retirements will be made in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

FISH STORIES-NO FISH

Wednesday was fish story day at Kiwanis dinner. Ralston Allison, first cousin to Isaac Walton, was speaker of the occasion and cited the Bible that men were natural fishers. He failed to prove that all men can soberly tell of their fishing trips. Dad Sturtevant, Ed Wiesendanger, Nic Hedegard, Sec. Farley, Hal Morton and others told stories and the prize was awarded to Nic, who has discovered a suitable bait for mer(e)maids. Vocal solos numbers were graciously rendered by Miss Bowman, accompanied by Miss Cherry of San Jose. The ladies prize was voted to Miss Bowman, who told a true one.

Rastus promises a continuation of the fishy stuff at a later date with a possible fish dinner. Frank Rego, was chairman for the hour. George Burrows will wield the gavel next week.

A. J. Elliott, director of the livestock division of the Tulare County Fair, announces substantial increases in the premiums and in the number of classifications of the horse division. Particular interest is being paid to the saddle horse and Shetland pony divisions this year. The draft and mule divisions are expected to be filled if the interest shown brings the expected results.

More than 100 persons, ranging from kindergarten children to elderly people, have learned to swim at the school conducted at Memorial Park at Grass Valley by Don Park, an instructor sent by the American Red Cross. Starr Plunge, at the park, has been thronged each day since it started the various classes having regular schedule with ample time given to the juveniles.

The H. P. DeWitt Vineyard in the Radnor, district, Kern County, has been sold to George Haines, Los Angeles business man, for a sum reported to be $31,250. The DeWitt property is reputed to be one of the best producers in the district, and three tons per acre of raisins are expected this season.

Publicity for Sutter County is being given by the Southern Pacific Company. Thirty thousand specially illustrated dining car menus depicting the county's importance have been prepared and distributed for use on the company's limited trains plying between Chicago, New Orleans and Pacific Coast points.

GRANGE BUYS ACRES FOR NEW HALL SITE

Orchard City grange has purchased the Nelson property on North Third street for its proposed hall site. Most of this tract will be subdivided for residence lots and two lots will be reserved for the hall. The committee has the matter of subdivision and improve the property.

The question of dehydrated or sundried prunes was discussed at the grange Tuesday evening by A. E. Rae. He found no practical difference in the results, the quality of product was the same and there was no difference in weight of finished product from a given amount of fruit. The cost however was much greater for dehydrating than sundried. It is a great advantage though in rainy seasons to have a dehydrator.

A. H. Harnes said the present is a good time to sow seeds of pansies and other perennial flowering plants, also late cabbage, cauliflower, chard, kale and etc., and there is still time to produce crops of beets, and beans before frost.

J. H. Bone, master of pomona grange was present and discussed plans for entertaining the state grange in San Jose this fall.

Rev. F. C. Farr sang "Clinging to the Cross" and "I am on shining Pathway".

The lecturer had prepared a Roll Call and had given 30 members questions to be discussed, some of which brought out most amusing remarks. For instance, why is a balky auto a detriment to a man's morals?

One of the sisters on "How to Lighten the burden of home cooking," said, "Put your husband on a diet."

On "What change would you make if you could live life over again," one brother said he would come to California earlier. "How to entertain Company," that depends on how badly you want them to stay.

A poem on "How the boy's calf became dad's cow" was read by Mrs. Purmort and "Give to the world the best you have and the best shall come back," by Mrs. Cooley.

SANTA CLARA CONSOLIDATED PICNIC MEETING

The second annual meeting of Santa Clara County Consolidated will be held Tuesday, Aug. 3, at Bernal's Camp Grounds, near Morgan Hill. At the July meeting of Consolidated at the latter town the matter of selecting a site for the annual meeting was placed in the hands of the Morgan Hill and Gilroy members of Consolidated, and the spot they have chosen is secluded, yet beautiful and easily reached over a good road. Directions: Drive south of Morgan Hill one-half mile turn right on Watsonville road drive four miles picnic grounds are on left side of road and a sign is in front of the place. It will be a regular meeting, for members alone, but instead of the usual indoor luncheon there will be an outdoor barbecue, prepared by the Gilroy and Morgan Hill members. The county supervisors have been invited to attend.

Hot Dog!
Will Bartlett, sometimes stunt performer on the vaudeville circuit with his good wife, is building a cozy little home and store on his lot at the high school corner. He will serve hot lunches, confections and soft drinks. His location is a good one both for the school and motorists trade and we welcome him to our business circle and wish him all success.

Mr. Anderson has the R. E. Dunphy house and is now a resident of our community, and a hearty welcome is extended to him and his family.

The Campbell Water Co., has made another important progressive step. A new pressure pump and motor have been installed at the plant to give its patrons a better service. The new motor has a speed of 3600 revolutions per minute and is controlled by an automatic compensator that starts and stops the pump at hours of day or night as the operator may adjust the indicator. Under ordinary conditions the town is supplied with a maintained pressure of 50 pounds and a flow of 750 gallons per minute but when the water is turned from the pump direct to the mains a 75 pound pressure is obtained, a very desirable factor in case of fire.

Another important feature in connection with this plant is the fact that the electricity that drives the motors is brought in on two separate power lines for emergency case.

With the installation of this new equipment the Company has given Campbell a water supply service sufficient for a town double its size.

In keeping with the policy of the company to serve their patrons to the best of its ability, it plans to lay new mains as the needs require and business warrants.

BAND CONCERT AT CAMPBELL

An interesting group of selections was played by the Twentieth District Odd Fellows band Wednesday evening before a highly pleased company of citizens assembled on the high school grounds.

This organization is composed of some of the best musicians from the various lodges within this district, and under the very efficient leadership of bandmaster Edward Towner has developed into a very good band.

The concert here was held under the auspices of Morning Light Lodge No. 42 of Campbell and is the first of a series of public entertainments to be given throughout the district. Following is the program as presented.

Three weeks after the packing houses of the district had closed for the season, C. H. Weed of the Valencia Heights Grove at Porterville, shipped a carload of Valencias to San Francisco. This is a record Mr. Weed attains almost every year, and indicates the keeping quality of his fruit.

The five most valuable crops in California in 1925 were oranges, hay, barley, raisin and wine grapes. This is according to figures issued by the California Co-operative Crop Reporting Service, Sacramento, Calif.

Soil surveys and maps of two of California's most productive desert regions which are now in process of reclamation and settlement, have been completed by the College of Agriculture of the University of California and the United States department of agriculture. These are the Lancaster area in Antelope valley on the edge of the Mojave desert, and the Palo Verde area about 40 miles north of the Imperial valley. These districts are noted, according to Professor Charles F. Shaw of the University, for high quality of alfalfa and cotton.

ADVERTISING AND "READING MOOD"

In comparison with other costs of doing business, advertising costs can not be said to be high unless the advertiser makes them so. Good advertising and much advertising is far cheaper than poor advertising and no advertising. Though the statement may sound paradoxical, it must be remembered that successful businesses devote a greater proportionate budget to advertising than less successful ones.

There are only two major factors in successful advertising of honest products: the right kind of "Copy" in wording and display, and the right medium through which to place it before the public. The newspaper, which contains reader-interest for the entire family is the best known and proven medium for obtaining direct and timely interest. The home's welcome visitor—the newspaper—reaches the numbers of the family in the "reading mood." It is During This Reading Mood (Which is also the Thinking Mood) that minds are made up and decisions reached. And the newspaper is the best known basis for this interest-mood so highly valued by advertisers.

"Sitting On Top Of The World" is all right in a song, but judging from Amundsen's report it would cause a rather chilly sensation.

ORANGES EXCEED ALL OTHER STATE CROPS IN VALUE

Oranges, hay, barley, raisins and wine grapes, in the order named, were California's most valuable crops during the last year, it was announced Saturday by E. E. Kaufman, State and Federal agricultural statistician.

Coming behind from the second place the previous year, oranges ranked first with a total value of $79,200,000. This was a gain of 5,500,000 boxes in one year and a financial jump of $13,570,000.

Due to a drop of about $7.70 a ton, hay, which topped the list in 1924, came second in the compilations. The crop of last year was valued at $75,700,000.

Next in importance, according to Kaufman, was barley with a total worth of $24,000,000, raisin grapes at $23,800,000 and wine grapes at $22,000,000.

The fifteen orchard and field crops ranking next in value were listed as follows:

Beans, lemons, wheat, prunes, cotton, peaches, walnuts, lettuce, potatoes, cantaloupes, pears, rice, table grapes, asparagus and tomatoes.

"The diversity of agricultural activities in California and the importance of the vegetable industry," said Kaufman, "is indicated by the fact that four vegetable crops were of sufficient value to rank among the first twenty crops."

"It is also significant that cotton, which was the thirteenth crop in 1924, took tenth place with a value of $14,500,000."

Dr. B. L. Clark of the University of California Museum of Paleontology is spending three weeks studying foraminifera at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla. The foraminifera are minute shell fish which lived millions of years ago, and which are now to be found in fossilized form in old rocks. Their presence is of great importance to oil prospectors, as it indicates strata of the earth of the age in which oil is most likely to be found.

Almost definite assurance that Sacramento will soon be given a splendid waterway to the sea was voiced by Congressman Charles F. Curry, on his arrival at Sacramento, when he declared that the rivers and harbors bill, which recently passed the house, and which carries appropriations for deepening the Sacramento and San Joaquin river channels, is virtually certain to be reported on favorably by a senate committee and will probably pass the senate.

At the meeting held recently of the board of directors of the Nevada Irrigation District, a resolution was adopted offering free to anyone living in the district, timber now being cut at Lake Bowman to make way for the increased reservoir. Much of the timber is cedar and suitable for fence posts and other farm uses.

An effort is being made by E. E. David, secretary-manager of the Lodi District Chamber of Commerce to have grape growers use the general label on their choicest grapes in an effort to increase a demand for that grade of fruit.

INFORMATION ABOUT SHORTTRIDGE RECORD

DO YOU KNOW THAT the Tariff is the principal issue in the coming campaign, and that June 16, 1926, the Democratic leader, Senator Robinson, said in the Senate:

"I am going to propose here and now, a coalition. I am going to suggest that the Democrats in this Chamber who in good faith believe in reducing the tariff to an approximate competitive basis as between foreign and domestic producers join hands with the Representatives of the Northwest and tear down this tariff wall. If you are ready to make the coalition I have suggested, we will stay here until you have relief, until the tariff has been reduced."

DO YOU KNOW THAT California is one of the ten states having a Republican Senator—Samuel M. Shortridge—on the Senate Finance Committee, which passes on all the affairs of the nation concerning Protective Tariff Rates and Income Taxes? This position held by Senator Shortridge is a guarantee to the producers and tax-payers of this state that their interests will be guarded.

DO YOU KNOW THAT by reason of the defeat of Senator Stanfield of Oregon, that Senator Shortridge and Senator Smoot of Utah will be the only Republican members of the Finance Committee west of the Mississippi River and that no new member of the Senate can secure this committee membership?

DO YOU KNOW THAT California has not a single Congressman on the Ways and Means Committee, before which Tariff and Tax legislation, comes in the House of Representatives, and that California will be without representation on any committee having control of these subjects of legislation unless Senator Shortridge is returned to the Senate?

DO YOU KNOW THAT practically all the farming industries of California depend upon the protection afforded by the Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill, which was supported by Senator Shortridge, and which cannot be amended without passing the Senate Finance Committee?

DO YOU KNOW THAT California has one hundred and nineteen (119) farm, orchard and mining products protected by tariff? Are you interested? If you want to make sure of a protective tariff for these products, support Shortridge.

DO YOU KNOW THAT The American Economist, America's greatest and foremost defender of the Tariff, said in commenting upon Senator Shortridge's appointment to the Finance Committee:

"California is to be congratulated because she will be represented on the Senate's most important committee by a high protectionist, whose serenity is never disturbed and who always seems to get what he goes after."

ASSESSOR COUNTS FRUIT TREES AND VINES IN COUNTY

The answer to many apparently strange questions may often be found in the records of Santa Clara county. As, for instance, an answer to the question of the number of fruit trees growing in the county, and the acreage devoted to the various crops is contained in a report which County Assessor C. Y. Pitman is preparing to submit to the state board of equalization.

Table, raisin and wine grapevines total 12,560 for 1926, a gain of 36 over the 12,524 grown in 1925. There are 675 non-bearing grapevines this year as compared to 500 a year ago. These figures, according to Assessor Pitman, are slightly greater than those for the year following the prohibition law.

Prune Gain Great

Prune and apricot totals are revelation. The 6,798,250 prune trees and the 1,878,800 apricot trees in Santa Clara county produced a larger crop last season than all the rest of the state, Pittman reports.

Of the 15 varieties of fruit trees grown in the county, ranging in number from 950 pomelo trees to 6,798,250 prune, but four varieties were fewer this year than in 1925, the report shows.

Crop Acreage

Acreage in the county devoted to ground crops, and to berries and beets, also showed increases for all but two of the 14 varieties. These are peas with 4500 this year and 5860 last, and sugar beets with 6850 in 1926 and 6890 in 1925.

The total number of fruit trees growing in the county, and the acreage devoted to crops during 1926 and 1925, are given in the following tabulation taken from the report to Assessor Pitman to the state board of equalization:

Number of grapevines growing for table, raisins, and wine bearing in 1926, 12,560; in 1925, 12,524; non-bearing in 1926, 675; in 1925, 500.

Close of the spraying season in the citrus orchards of Tulare county has come with the hot weather and the fumigation work is now well under way to continue for some weeks. A check-up on the orchards where spraying was undertaken this year is now being made through the offices of Horticultural Commissioner Frank R. Brann, who hopes to have a definite report soon. From first observation good results were secured this season with sprayng, equally as good as those of a year ago.

The striking thing about California farms and agriculture of the United States in general to foreign visitors is the amount of land a single man can cultivate. Three visitors to the University of California recently, from agricultural experiment stations in England, Germany, and Denmark concurred in this opinion and stated that 10 to 15 men could make a living in their countries on the land allotted to many grain farmers here. They advocated more intensive farming for greater profits.

Rumors that the Merced-Yosemite Highway to be dedicated July 31st would be closed again following the celebration were squashed by officials of the California State Highway Commission, it was learned in Merced upon good authority. While the road from El Portal into the park probably will be subject to single control during the reconstruction period, the state road will remain open to travel, it was said.

JOSEPH M. McKINNON ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR SUPERVISOR OF FOURTH DISTRICT

During the last several months many of my friends and voters in the fourth supervisory district have urged me to become a candidate for supervisor in that district. Among other reasons advanced for this request was the fact that, in the opinion of many, proper regard for the wishes of the people of the district had not been shown when the petition signed by more than 3000 voters, nearly half of the voters in the district, had been ignored in filling the vacancy caused by the death of John Roll. I have acceded to these requests and hereby announce my candidacy.

If elected I will owe my office solely to the voters of the district and will be obligated to no political boss or group.

I have lived in the fourth supervisory district most of my life and believe that I know its needs, and the needs of Santa Clara county. During the campaign I shall try to get even better acquainted with the district and its people, and if elected, will spend my whole time in the performance of the duties of the office.

John Roll, as supervisor of the fourth district, acquired a statewide reputation for the excellence of the roads in his district. It will be my earnest endeavor to keep in the same excellent condition, as I fully realize that not only the pleasure of the people but their prosperity and the value of their lands is largely dependent upon good roads permitting adequate and cheap transportation.

I believe that we should heed to the recommendation of several grand juries of the county, that a new jail be built, not only that the inmates may not be inhumanely treated but that the possibility of their escape shall be reduced to a minimum.

We should, I believe, also have a proper detention home for juvenile offenders, to prevent, if possible, such offenders from becoming hardened criminals.

Everyone who has had business to transact with our public officials realizes how antiquated our county buildings are without elevator service. This works a particular hardship upon the aged and infirm who are compelled to climb the long flights of steps to the court room of the probate department. This condition should be remedied by a new building, or by proper remodeling of the old.

I believe that Santa Clara county is entitled to the best and will try in every way to keep abreast of the times, but at all times my motto will be: "100 cents return for every tax dollar."

The proper hour for a wedding "breakfast" is not till one o'clock in the afternoon. Of course lovesick people don't eat anyway, but it's pretty hard on the parents.

The fellows who get the long-term convictions usually are the kind who don't have very deep-seated ones.

Shadows and Sunshine

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Winter days are often dreary
But when springtime comes along
We're a heap more interested
In the robin's cheery song!
Mornin' always seems most welcome
When you spend a restless night.
After clouds 're black an' heavy,
That's the time the sun looks bright!

Seems to me there's somethin' like it
In the way life deals with men:
Prospects always seem the darkest
Just before things boom again.
And I'm thinkin' that the worries
An' hard-knocks he gets before,
Help a fellow prize his blessings
And good fortune, all the more!

FIRST YEAR IMPRESSIONS

Of the School of Religion

June 1, 1926.

Dear Campbell Friends:

There are four great Camps of Greek and Armenian refugees from Turkey in and about Athens. It is in Protestant churches and social centers in these that our students do their field work every Sunday, and often during the week also. How these thousands of poor people in each Camp established themselves and built tiny houses is a modern miracle. The Greek Government has done itself great credit in welcoming these folks and helping them to get a start, and they have received indispensable help from America and England, but their own initiative and persistence and good cheer speak volumes for the vitality and character of the Greek and Armenian peoples. Recent visitors who had just come from Naples could hardly believe their eyes when they saw these camps so clean, the quality of the tiny and often one room houses is constantly improving, and many of them are immaculately neat, and even stained on the outside. Many of them have pathetic little yards fenced with mud bricks or brush, and even little flower gardens. The passion of these people for education, and their great sacrifices for maintaining schools and churches, thrills one's soul with a conviction of the indestructible spiritual qualities in our humanity.

Out of the year, there have come to me three outstanding impressions: First, that of the atmosphere of rare Christian courtesy which pervades the School. Such gentlemanliness and womanliness, such thoughtfulness and good manners at work and play and at the table. It is not form, but the outward expression of an inward and truly Christian Grace.

Second, the spirit of overflowing Goodwill, and Christian Forgiveness, which reaches out to all the nationalities of this many-peopled East.

As one illustration, out of many which I might take, I shall not soon forget seeing one member of our community who had suffered terribly at the hand of cruel persecutors, and felt no resentment, sitting throughout a supper hour trying to persuade an American that he ought to exercise a forgiving spirit toward the Germans, who were his foes in the Great War.

And most of all, the atmosphere of reality and genuineness which pervades the School. It is one of real scholarship, and a good stiff program of hard study is faithfully carried out. Fortunately there is an irrepressible gaiety about these young people. It is wonderful, when you think of the tragedies through which so many of them have come; but it goes far in helping to keep the atmosphere of the School wholesome and normal, with Volley ball practice several times a week, and a social evening once a week, and much merriment all along with the days work. You feel both the sincerity and sanity

Girls for English Colonies

To add to the inducements that the English colonies are holding out to prospective colonists it is now proposed to establish a school for girl farmers. While the boys are being trained on one farm in the art of plowing and handling stock the girls are to be trained in a school nearby in the art of becoming farmers' wives. The first party will consist of 12 girls. They will sail for New Zealand and will receive their training on a fine estate near Palmerston. The expenses of the experiment are being paid from a fund established by the sheep farmers of New Zealand, a good many of whom, it is said, are minus wives.

New Uses for Aluminum

Aluminum will, quite possibly, soon displace copper in electric transmission and distribution wiring. A new process for extracting aluminum from clay has been developed to reduce the cost of the production of this metal to such a figure that it can be used for transmitting and distributing electricity from generating stations.

Ship Stabilizer

Seasickness is expected to vanish before a mammoth gyro stabilizer, to be installed in a 20,000-ton American liner. The gyroscope is a large heavy metal disk, which, when revolving at a high rate of speed, offers great resistance to lateral motion. Thus the steamer can steady itself by holding onto the gyroscope, which refuses to swing.

Better Than Vaccination

A scientist in Great Britain claims to have found a way to immunize persons from smallpox and other diseases without vaccination. His system is to fill a room with immunizing vapor, and persons sniffing it through their nostrils will become immune to certain diseases.

in the prayer meetings. Every person is here with an intensely serious purpose in life. I have never been in any other institution where there was such an insistent demand for sincerity and reality and the highest ideals in faculty and visitors alike. It is the glory and the promise of the School, and also the source of its joy and the assurance of its influence.

We are inspired in the work of our School with the belief that we are in a modest way partners with the Greek, Armenian, Russian, Bulgarian and other Churches of the Near East in bringing the life and spirit of Jesus to bear on the life of this part of the world. We are glad to be one of the expressions of fellowship between the Churches of the West and those of the East. And not least of all, do we hope to have a part in bringing to the Moslem peoples, with their restless search for a larger truth, some measure of the message and spirit of the Living Christ.
